WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, September 26.

Chairman Cowherd, of the Democratic Congressional Committee, in speaking of President Roosevelt's letter of acceptance, said:

"President Roosevelt's letter of acceptance is too long to be reviewed in an interview, nor have I had an opportunity to go over it with sufficient care to attempt that task. Like most of his writings, it is virile and bold, and like most of his writings, it is full of inaccuracies. Few men have the dramatic instinct to a greater degree than President Roosevelt. It is an excellent quality in an author and a very dangerous one in a President. It makes all his writings readable and keeps the country in continual alarm as to what he will do next."

"It takes a bold man to speak of the shiftiness and uncertainty of others who has himself as shifty and uncertain record as Mr. Roosevelt. The Free Trader talking protection and the 'Trust Buster' grown gentle, has little reason to talk of the shiftiness or uncertainty of others."

"Mr. Roosevelt's letter of acceptance is full of assumptions that lack facts to back them. When he says, for instance, 'Do they (the Democrats) object to the way in which the Monroe Doctrine has been strengthened and upheld?' he assumes the very thing which never occurred. The Monroe Doctrine, as every one knows, has been weakened by Mr. Roosevelt's attempted definition and limitation of it. When he says that 'never before has this Doctrine been acquiesced in abroad as it is now' he should qualify it by stating that it is his Monroe Doctrine that is acquiesced in and not the Monroe Doctrine as it was known before he amended it. His construction has been acquiesced in abroad because it was in conformity with foreign interests."

"He has the temerity also to ask whether we objected to his action on the petition of the American citizens against the Kishinef massacre. In the light of Mr. Roosevelt's complete back-down on his proposed forwarding of that petition to the Czar, this statement is amusing."

"Mr. Roosevelt also says that the 'Democrats assert their belief in reciprocity, but their action on the Cuban Treaty does not carry out their assertion.' This is a plain attempt to mis-state the facts of history. Mr. Roosevelt knows that his Cuban policy could never have been put into execution except by the unanimous aid of the Democratic party. He knows that it was fought, and bitterly fought, by a large and influential portion of the Republican party, both in the House and Senate. It is true the Democrats desired to take off the protection to the Sugar Trusts; it is true they opposed the clause in the Cuban treaty which practically prohibited reciprocity towards any other country. But though they could not get their ideas into the treaty, they accepted it as the best they could do and stood by the policy of reciprocity."

"Mr. Roosevelt's talk of liberality to the veterans by his executive order and criticism of the Democrats comes dangerously near being the plea of a small lawyer in a justice's court. The Democratic policy was shown when the party offered to make his illegal order law by putting it on the Statute book, thus securing to the veteran that which he holds now only by the precarious tenure of an executive order."

"On the question of expenditures, the President announces that the expenses of the Government have not increased, and then explains how they have increased, and in this explanation he includes the purchase of the Panama Canal and the cost of irrigating arid lands. Neither of these are included in the appropriation for this year, nor in the statements issued showing the expenses under his administration, which were in the four years past two hundred and eleven million dollars more than under McKinley, although he carried on a war with Spain, and more than eight hundred million dollars more than under Mr. Cleveland during his last term."

"Mr. Roosevelt has no idea of the constitutional limitations on his power. His letter shows conclusively that when he thinks a thing ought to be done, he also thinks he ought to do it, regardless of whether the law has given that power into his hands or not."

"Taken as a whole, the letter is a bold, defiant expression of the 'Big Stick.' This administration suits the President, and he thinks it suits the people, and proposes to stand by it. I admire his boldness, but I question his judgment." CHARLES A. EDWARDS.

ABOUT PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

[From the Jackson Hustler.]

Eli Smith, of Perry county is alleged to have been shot and killed by Powell Logan, his brother-in-law. A woman is in the case.

Miss Carrie Rose, a pretty young lady from Hazel Green, is the guest of her friend, Miss Kate Sewell, daughter of Hon. G. W. Sewell.

James Gambill, son of Squire W. E. Gambill, has been appointed as the successor of W. B. Sladd as railroad mail clerk between Jackson and Lexington.

Kelly Kash, the able aide de reportorial of the Hustler, and Grannis Bach, son of Judge J. J. C. Bach, returned from the World's Fair Monday, much delighted with the big show.

Master Edward Cox, aged 8, was taken to the Masonic Home, in Louisville, to be placed in school there. J. S. Head, the Cashier of the Jackson Deposit Bank, effected the admission, and accompanied the youngster to his new home.

James Drake, of this city, met with a painful accident some days ago, while squirrel hunting. He was using an old-fashioned squirrel rifle, and when the cap exploded a part of it entered the eye ball, destroying the sight temporarily. His physician, Dr. Offutt, thinks that by an operation and the use of glasses his sight may be restored.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c., at all drug-gists.

The Gas Will Come.

There is now no longer any question about the introduction of gas into our town for light and fuel. The Hazel Green Oil and Gas Co. yesterday made an order for all the piping necessary to lay the mains and make connection with the dwellings, stores, &c. The order includes everything necessary, and all the consumer will have to do is to arrange with some one to fit up his premises, and the pipe will be sold at a nominal profit. In buying in such large quantities the company can afford to and will sell it cheaper than the individual could buy it elsewhere. The introduction of this new fuel and light will make Hazel Green the most desirable place for dwelling that can be found in the State—no dirt, dust, soot, or anything of the kind to contend with—and we confidently anticipate a great increase in the population within the next 12 months.

STATE COLLEGE OF KENTUCKY,

Lexington. - - Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, horticultural, chemical, biological, mathematical, physical, normal school, classical, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, civil engineering, mining engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post graduate studies are also provided, leading to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty number nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and light, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern.

The Legislature appropriated $60,000 for a college home for young women, and $30,000 for drill hall and gymnasium for men. Both buildings are completed and in use. Military tactics and science are fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the college to supply. Last year the matriculation was 750.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science. Summer schools are provided for pedagogy, engineering and instruction in science.

The State College of Kentucky, though bearing hitherto the title of "college," is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing in any proper sense university work.

The completion of the college home for young women provides facilities for good board and lodging. It is equipped with all modern conveniences, including bath rooms and room for physical culture. It is heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is thus afforded to them of a thorough education in classics, modern languages, literature, science, mathematics, logic, metaphysics, history and political economy. No other institution in the State offers advantages for education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.
